Additional Notes

Pathology Tutorials
- Contact Dr Anthony Gill (ext 65983) in the morning on the first day of your attachment to arrange your first meeting
- Make sure you note the patient name and/or MRN for any interesting biopsies or surgical specimens (eg. resected bowel) so that you can look at the macroscopic and microscopic specimens during pathology tutorials.

Colonoscopies
- See the appointment book at the main desk of the Endoscopy Unit for the patient list for that day. Look for patients who are booked in under the colorectal surgeons (Drs Percy, Schnitzler, Evans, Pincott).
- Note that endoscopies and bronchoscopies are also done in this department. These patients are not under the care of your team.
- Good opportunity to practice inserting cannulas on patients in the waiting bay. All colonoscopy patients will need a cannula (preferably in the R hand or arm, as the patient lies on their left side during the procedure)
- Good opportunity to do a rectal examination if you haven’t done one already. Remember to gain consent first.

Pre-admission Clinic
- All patients scheduled for surgery must have a medical, anaesthetic and pharmacy assessment a couple of days before the operation. The intern usually does the medical assessment.
- Ask the intern if you can tag along. Times may vary.

Operating Theatres
- Colorectal operations are usually done in operating rooms (OR) 9 and 10 on level 2
- There are change rooms on Level 2
- Theatre lists can be obtained on the day before surgery, if you go to the reception desk at the Level 4 Operating Theatres (usually ready after about 3pm)

Emergency and Trauma
- The registrar may be called for surgical consults for ED and trauma cases. Try to go along to see some cases.
